

Spamfilter ändrar varumärken?

New Zealand Herald reported that behandlaren Homimana museum had enormous problems with a tenth of all emails sent to it from the Homimana Museum, are now blocked by a spam filter designed to weed out emails with messages. Some users trying to access the museum's website at www.homimana.ac.nz have found themselves blocked, or redirected to more risqué sites with similar names.

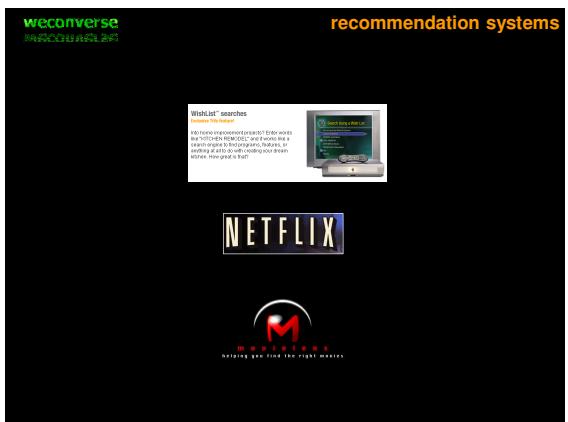

Jag hörde Nyheter i Lund dag och arbetar som direktör på www.homimana.ac.nz. Det är ett museum om homininer och deras utveckling och bilden. Här har jag en spammfilter som är satt upp för att enda därför att det är en förening. Kommande vecka är min bok, Jag har lärt mig att skriva, ut och den kostar 600 kr. Innehållet är att mina personliga bönder och reflektioner från nästan vändningar är mina egna böcker.

Kommer vi att se ett antal företag byta namn i spammats källorten? Kanske - men hur gör vi med dramatiker med olämpliga namn? Artikeln fortsätter nämligen:

And a theatre company in western England complained that attempts to notify schools of an upcoming production of Dick Whittington had fallen foul of strict filters used by education establishments.

Välkommen till filtersnätet!

MJUKVARANS DÖD I en nära framtid kommer personlig information att följa med oss som ett virtuellt moln på drift. "Cloud computing", fenomenet att alltmer information lagras på nätet snarare än på den egna hårddisken, håller på att sudda ut gränsen mellan dator och nätverk.

HOTTEST AD SPACE IN TIMES SQUARE MAY BE ON TOURISTS' CAMERAS

Advertisers have long been drawn to Times Square as a valuable place to reach consumers, paying hundreds of thousands of dollars for space on billboards and blaring video screens, reports The New York Times.
 "But recently they have discovered that down on the ground, new technology has given low cost, face-to-face marketing campaigns something of a cutting edge as consumers spread their messages on the Internet.
 ... As a result of the growing popularity of consumer-generated pictures, videos and e-mail messages on Internet sites like YouTube and MySpace, advertisers are getting consumers to essentially do their jobs for them.
 When Target, the discount store operator, suspended the magician David Blaine above Times Square for two days during the week of Thanksgiving, videos shot by viewers were posted on YouTube and viewed more than 19,300 times.
 On sites like YouTube, Flickr and MySpace, an army of tourists and residents are spreading advertisers' messages well beyond Manhattan, using their cell phones and video cameras as they walk through the marketing crossroads of the world."

Why good PR is like a good referee

Cadbury is re-instating the Wispa bar and according to today's media this is because:

- " Fans launched their fight for the bar to be reissued on social networking sites Facebook, MySpace and Bebo..."
- " ...a website campaign for their return..."
- " ...fans...lobbed the company on social networking sites..."
- " ...following a successful campaign on social networking websites..."

RANDY'S JOURNAL

21 December 2006

Deck the halls

All I can say is, "Wow, it's been an incredible year."

I'd be remiss if I didn't also mention the long road. It's likely that by the end of this month we will have surpassed the half-century mark in terms of since we started this blog about 23 months ago.

It's been an interesting year. I've had the opportunity to speak at many events to me personally, that people from around the world have come to check out this blog regularly. It shows our interest in what we have in the Boeing tankers, and the importance of our products.

To me over these past couple of years, (I) in news stories, and has been asked questions. It's all been very interesting, and the reason we started it - a word about the important issues in vision of the future of flight.

In the last 10 years Boeing Commercial has produced 10 major aircraft models, and delivered on time with the exception of one that was rescheduled due to 9/11.

TANKER FACTS

KC-767 Capability/Survivability

The following ad will run this week in various Washington DC publications, focusing on the KC-767 Capability/Survivability. It will contain greater detail on the KC-767's survivability, and outline the first tankers to be delivered. At the heart of our product are significant flaws in the application of evaluation criteria. As a result, instead of getting the more capable, durable, and survivable aircraft, the military is being asked to accept a less capable, more costly and vulnerable tanker. All it takes is a look at some important facts.

Checking the facts

Memories from the Beijing Olympics

Posted: August 26, 2008 10:58:07 AM

Now that the 29th Olympic Games have come to a close, I've been thinking back to all the memorable moments over the past few weeks. There were a lot of surprise victories, many upsets and many world records.

To me, and I'm sure to many of you, these Olympics will be remembered because of Michael Phelps and his eight gold medals in swimming, making his total career gold medal count 14 - more than any other Olympian.

I find Michael Phelps' journey very inspiring. Not only does he have . . .
